PROMOTING THE WINE CULTURE

I started my career as a professional English and German translator, but very soon I developed a new passion related to wine and wineries and became a qualified sommelier and grappa taster. I have been working in the wine business for thirty years and my real passion is teaching Italian wine culture to an international audience.

LOOKING FOR EXCELLENCIES

Being a professional sommelier, I carry out my activity as wine and travel expert for business operators. I am always looking forward to new experiences and for this reason I try every time to select “niche” wines and less-known wineries in my area, which can offer top products in terms of quality, ranging between tradition and innovation.

— All the tastings take place in an ample and airy location, overlooking Piazza del Campo.
